POST DEPLOYMENT HEALTH REASSESSMENT

PDHRA

The Army PDHRA Program is a part of the DoD's overall Force Health Protection Program. The Post-Deployment Health Reassessment (PDHRA) is a comprehensive health screening that examines for physical and behavioral health concerns associated with deployment. The program demonstrates the Army's commitment to the long-term health and well-being of Soldiers and Department of the Army (DA) Civilians.

It is conducted 90-180 days post-deployment. Conducting the PDHRA within this window is critical as research indicates that this is when symptoms of issues may appear. The screening is designed to address deployment-related physical and behavioral health needs and readjustment concerns of Army Soldiers 90-180 days after returning from a combat deployment.

The PDHRA is a required screening for all who deployed OCONUS for 30 days or more with non-fixed Military Treatment Facility (MTF) (IAW DODI 6490.03). It must be completed regardless of your location, upcoming separation (ETS) or retirement within the prescribed window.

The PDHRA consists of three components:

Resilience Training:

- Resilience Training is one of the Army's mandatory training programs as outlined in AR 350-1. It is a Unit Commander's responsibility just like other mandatory training programs, such as physical fitness training, substance abuse program training and prevention of sexual harassment training.
- Only unit-level qualified trainers—Master Resilience Trainers—can conduct the training.

DD Form 2900:

- The DD Form 2900 is a series of questions that will help guide the discussion with the health care provider.
- Access to the DD Form can be found through AKO, and it may be filled out online at <https://medpros.mods.army.mil/mwde/secure/AKOForms.asp>.

Discussion with a Health Care Provider:

- The discussion with the health care provider can take place either at on-site events, a MTF, a Yellow Ribbon event, a call center event or via phone.
- The PDHRA is confidential, so candid answers will not impact promotability or security clearance.

The PDHRA is not complete until you speak with a health care provider.
